DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. In view of the Appeal Brief filed on 7/26/2004, PROSECUTION IS HEREBY REOPENED. A new ground of rejection is set forth below.

To avoid abandonment of the application, appellant must exercise one of the following two options:

(1) file a reply under 37 CFR 1.111 (if this Office action is non-final) or a reply under 37 CFR 1.113 (if this Office action is final); or,

(2) request reinstatement of the appeal.

If reinstatement of the appeal is requested, such request must be accompanied by a supplemental appeal brief, but no new amendments, affidavits (37 CFR 1.130, 1.131 or 1.132) or other evidence are permitted. See 37 CFR 1.193(b)(2).

1.1 The amendments have been entered and the 35 U.S.C. 112 rejection has been withdrawn. The following claims 13-21 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2.1 Claims 13-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US Patent 6,098,171 to Johnson et al.

2.2 As per claim 13, Johnson et al. discloses a computer comprising: a processor, a memory having a memory address space, the memory address space comprising a stored program, the stored program including a power-on-self-test (POST), for example (see column 2, lines 33-39); a first input device operatively connected to the processor (figure 3B); an adapter read-only-memory (ROM) located in certain blocks of the memory address space, for example (see column 2); a control associated with the POST for preventing an input from the first input device during the POST to prevent user inputs from entering the memory, for example (see column 4, line 20 through column 5, line 15); a security signature in the adapter ROM for identifying if the first input device may temporarily accept a user input, for example (see column 4, line 20 through column 5, line 15; and column 3, lines 38-65); a ROM security routine for determining if user input is required and further including a test for user authorization, for example (see column 4, line 20 through column 5, line 15; and column 3, lines 38-65; columns 11-12); an indicator stored in the memory for permitting a user input during at least a portion of the POST, with the processor responding to the indicator and allowing a user input at the input device during POST by at least temporarily overriding the control preventing a user input during the POST if the user successfully satisfies the authorization test, for example (see column 3, line 18 through column 5, line 15); and a second input device operatively connected to a Universal Serial Bus (USB) port in the computer, wherein the second input device is selectively locked out only if the first input device is prevented from inputting a signal during the POST, for example (see column 4, line 20 through column 5, line 15).

As per claims 14-15, Johnson et al. discloses the limitation of wherein the first input device is a keyboard communicating with the computer via a dedicated keyboard port, for example (see column 9, lines 28-40).

As per claims 16-19, Johnson et al. discloses a method and computer comprising disabling, via a first mechanism, a dedicated keyboard coupled to a dedicated keyboard port of a computer while a Power-On-Self-Test (POST) is executing in the computer, for example (see column 4, line 20 through column 5, line 15); and in response to the dedicated keyboard being disabled, disabling, via a second mechanism, a Universal Serial Bus (USB) port on the computer, for example (see column 4, line 20 through column 5, line 15 and column 12, lines 17-45).

Johnson et al. discloses the inventive concept of disabling a USB port or USB keyboard via password or hardware in response to a dedicated keyboard being disabled, for example (see also claims 7-11 in column 14, and see column 6).

Claims 20 and 21 are similar to claims 18 and 19 except for specifying using a keyboard sensing switch for monitoring the USB port for an enabling password, for example (see column 11; column 14, claims 7-11; and column 6).
